Among the frauds specifically named is one in which an entirely ineffectual white powder was sold in great quantities as Germah aspirin. Another case was that in which ordinary table said was colored with coal tar dye and sold as a substitute for a world's renowned blood purifier.

The Department of Agriculture made the seizures, it is said, not only because the public was being defrauded out of large sums of money, but because, in many cases, the substitute for the well-known drugs were injurious to health

Greater Variety Promised.

The general opinion among the to-people of Washington is that the mil lion dollars spent annually in this city for toys will find greater variety for purchase than ever before—all because Santa Claus plans his work years ahead, and up to the ,resent hasn't learned there is such a thing as a war in Europe!

In order that none of the children who might care to file written orders or who might care to file written orders or have personal interviews with Santa Claus shall be overlooked, the old Saint is to devote four more days to the little folks of Washington and will establish himself again Wednesday. Thursday, Friday and Saturday in the workshop and postoffice built for him in Woodward & Lothrop's top department, where he will hold public receptions throughout the day.

PRICES OF TURKEYS STARTING TO SOAR

Indications Are That Cost of Big Bird Will Continue High Thanksgiving Day.

Stories purporting to come from Texas to the effect that the European war was going to prevent the shipment of turkevs abroad and make Thanks-New Industry Announced by giving dinners cheaper, were discounted by dealers at the Center Market today by dealers at the Center Market today, the general opinion being that the big birds will be scarce in this city the latter part of this month.

Practically all of the turkeys sold in Washington are raised within 100 miles of this city, and the idea that some might be shipped here from Texas for the Thanksgiving market was scouted as improbable. Turkey raisers who have been at the market during the last week say that the flocks in Maryland and Virginia are smaller this year than for several years past. For some reason not accounted for the birds did not hatch out well last spring, and the effect is beginning to be felt now.

Good turkeys are now selling for 28 cents a pound, dressed, though some of the plumpest will bring 30 cents. The beat of the flocks have not come on the market, but the demand will keep pace

Two years ago the Department of Commerce conducted the first sale, of raw aral skins at $1. Louis. Fuyers came from all over the world and better prices were obtained than formerly. The department then began negotiations for the establishment of a dyeing and pressing industry, which have now been completed.

The second sale of American fur skins was held at $1. Fouls last month, when fox skins brought prices 10 per cent higher than heretofore. There was no seal fur sale, but the Government has $,000 skins in storage ready for sale after being prepared for the market.
